I, MATTHEW BAILEY, want to publically apologize to the following people: Roberta and David Knutson, Darin and Cindy Bleggi, Knutson Corner 3010 Desert Road (cactus). I have been out of line with these people who have rented a residence to me in good faith the past few years. I have been late on rent, allowed trash in the yard, dirt and debris on carpets and tile. Piles of clothing and pet dirt and dander. I take full responsibility for my lack of courtesy and my actions. I ask these individuals to allow me to make financial amends. 22

THANK YOU TO ALL THE VETERANS who have given their lives in defense of mine. To all service people who are currently serving: Thank you! So much has been lost to allow me all freedoms and I don't take anything for granted. Social distancing has shown what it is like when a loved one has died. You can feel but not see them. In memory of "Sug" Ivan Lowell Bailey, who served during WWII in the Army. Fred Every of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Vietnam. MOAB LAWN SENSE

Even with all the rain this year, about 60 percent of water used in Moab homes is used outdoors, which includes watering lawns. Watering your lawn efficiently can save money on your water bill and give you a healthier lawn.

Summer Lawn Watering Tips:

- Water at night or early in the morning; evaporation is lower at these times.
- Water deeply once every three days for deeper root growth, even during the hottest part of the summer.
- Every time you water, wet the soil to at least a 4-inch depth. To determine how deeply you have watered push a 6-inch long shaft of a screwdriver into the ground to check for moisture. If it goes in easily, you have watered enough.
- If some areas appear dry after watering, hand water those areas or add a sprinkler head.
- Overwatered lawns grow fungus, turn yellow and can attract mosquitos. Signs include water puddling, a musty odor, mushy soil, or algae.

Zone your yard!
Kentucky bluegrass may need 3 inches of water a week in summer months – that's 1,800 gallons of water a month for a 30-foot by 30-foot lawn. Consider reducing your lawn area and growing shrubs and flowers to reduce water use, save money on your bill and have a beautiful yard.

THANK YOU TO ALL THE VETERANS who have given their lives in defense of mine. To all service people who are currently serving: Thank you! So much has been lost to allow me all freedoms and I don't take anything for granted. Social distancing has shown what it is like when a loved one has died. You can feel but not see them. In memory of "Sug" Ivan Lowell Bailey, who served during WWII in the Army. Fred Every of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Vietnam. Fred Don Snyder, Vietnam, who saved his fellow soldiers even though mortally wounded.
